Supporting international multidisciplinary workshops at Surrey

We are 10!

This summer the Institute of Advanced Studies (IAS) at the University of Surrey is marking the anniversary of its foundation in 2004. The Institute was established with a vision to sponsor workshops on multidisciplinary topics at the 'cutting edge' of science, engineering, social science and the humanities suggested by Surrey staff, and to encourage international scholars to visit Surrey and leave behind excellent ideas and innovations. Over the years our events have resulted in many research grants, new collaborations, journal articles and books, as well as much good will from all over the world.

We would like to thank the University of Surrey for its ongoing support.

Professor Nigel Gilbert
IAS Director

The Institute of Advanced Studies (IAS) at the University of Surrey makes awards to staff to support the arrangement of international multi-disciplinary workshops at the University. This academic year the IAS Advisory Board awarded nine grants of up to £5000 each as contributions towards the costs of running the events.

GRANT COMPETITION 2014 / 2015

The deadline for the next workshop grant competition is Friday 17th October 2014. The competition is open to all academic and research staff. Organisers are expected to 'match' the funding provided by IAS with funds from other sources, including registration fees. For further information, current and past events, please visit www.ias.surrey.ac.uk.
